OBEY ALL TRAFFIC SIGNS, SIGNALS AND LAWS
Bicyclists must obey all traffic laws when riding a bike. Stop at all stops signs. Use a bike light at night. Headphones cannot cover both ears.

USE HAND SIGNALS
Signal to show your intended direction and as a courtesy and for self-protection.

WEAR A BIKE HELMET
Remember to wear your bike helmet for every ride, even short trips. Protect your most valuable asset—your brain!

BE VISIBLE AT NIGHT
A front white headlight and red rear reflector are required by law. Wear bright or light colored clothing or reflective gear so you are more visible.

PASS WITH CARE
Use caution at intersections. Both vehicles and other bicyclists do not expect you to pass on the right and may not see you.

REGISTER YOUR BIKE
Bikes on the Stanford campus must be registered under the Stanford Campus Parking & Transportation Code.

YIELD TO PEDESTRIANS
Show courtesy and respect for all road and path users. Give pedestrians the right of way. Call out when passing or use a bike bell.

DRIVE YOUR BIKE
Think about driving your bike, not just riding it. Ride in the same direction as traffic and at safe speeds for conditions. Do not ride on sidewalks; use the bike lane when possible.

USE A BIKE RACK AND LOCK UP
Park your bike in a designated bike rack and use a u-shaped lock to lock your bike wheel and frame to the rack. Do not block access to entryways or lock your bike to railings as it can be impounded.
